To whom it may concern;

I am writing to recommend Elena Clement to you as a consulting Chef and Culinary Trainer.

I had the privilege of studying under Chef Clement for the Baking and Pastry component of my formal culinary education at Johnson and Wales University in Denver, Colorado. I entered the University as part of an Advanced Standing Cohort that consisted of students with significant industry experience. It was during this period that I came to appreciate Chef Clement's heightened level of professionalism and breadth of industry knowledge. She truly stood out above her peers as an instructor of the highest caliber.

Chef Clement is an authority on the exact science of the baking and pastry production as well as being a wealth of information on how to conduct oneself as a culinary professional. Whether it is in the bake shop, hot side kitchen or simply interacting with your fellow workers; Chef Clement was insistent upon always fostering a professional, and positive, work environment. I am certain her consulting will be a benefit to your company in many ways.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions you may have about Chef Clement or her work.

Professionally,

Executive Chef Matthew Roberts
